IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT LAND DESCRIPTIONS

TOWNSHIP SURVEY INFORMATION

FIGURE 5

A CONGRESSIONAL TOWNSHIP CONTAINS 36 SECTIONS OF LAND 1 MILE SQUARE.

A CIVIL OR POLITICAL TOWNSHIP MAY BE LARGER OR SMALLER THAN A CONGRESSIONAL TOWNSHIP.

DIAGRAM SHOWING CONGRESSIONAL TOWNSHIPS

Theoretically, a township is a square tract of land with sides of six miles each, and containing 36 sections of land.
Government surveying of townships was run from starting lines called base lines and principal meridians. Each township has a township number. This number is the number of rows or tiers of townships that a township is either north or south of the base line. Also each township has a range number. This number is the number of rows or tiers of townships that a township is either east or west of the principal meridian (See figure 6).
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF LAND SHOULD SHOW THE SECTION, TOWNSHIP AND RANGE IT IS LOCATED IN.

TOWNSHIPS MAY BE EITHER NORTH OR SOUTH OF THE BASE LINE.
RANGES MAY BE EITHER EAST OR WEST OF THE PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN.

Civil or PoliticalTownships somtimes vary in size from the regularly laid-out Congressional Township. (see figure 5). Suppose that the dotted line in figure 5 is a river separating two counties. The land north and west of of the river could be a township in one county, the land south and east could be a township in another county. Whichever county the land is in, it still retains the same section, township and range numbers for purposes of land descriptions.

SAMPLE SECTIONS SHOWING RECTANGULAR LAND DESCRIPTIONS, ACREAGES AND DISTANCES

THE BEST WAY TO READ LAND DESCRIPTIONS IS FROM THE REAR OR BACKWARDS.

A LAND DESCRIPTION IS A TRACT OF LAND IN LEGALLY ACCEPTABLE TERMS, SO AS TO SHOW EXACTLY WHERE IT IS LOCATED AND HOW MANY ACRES IT CONTAINS.

Descriptions of land always reads FIRST from either the NORTH or the SOUTH. In figures 1, 2, 3, and 4, notice that they all start with N (north), S (south), such as NW, SE, etc. They are never WN (west north), ES (east south) etc.

IMPORTANT: It is comparatively simple for anyone to understand a description, that is, determine where a tract of land is located, from even a long description. the SECRET is to analyze the description from the rear or backwards.

EXAMPLE: Under figure 4, the first description reads E1/2, SE1/4, SW1/4, SW1/4. The last part of the description reads SW1/4, which means that the tract of land we are looking for is somewhere in that quarter (as shown in figure 1). Next back, we find the SW1/4, which means that the tract we are after is somewhere in the SW1/4 SW1/4 (as shown in figure 2). Next back, we find the SE1/4, which means that the tract is in the SE1/4 SW1/4 SW1/4 (as shown in figure 3). Next back and our last part to look up, is the E1/2 of the above, which is the location of the tract described by the whole description (as shown in figure 4).

TO INTERPRET A LAND DESCRIPTION - LOCATE THE AREA ON YOUR TOWNSHIP PLAT, THEN ANALYZE THE DESCRIPTION & FOLLOW IT ON THE PLAT MAP.

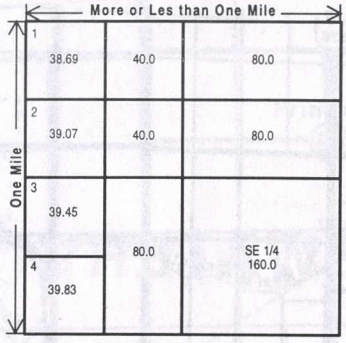
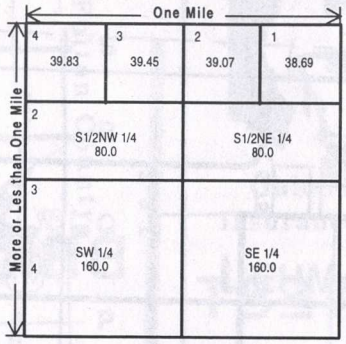
GOVERNMENT LOTS

Because meridians and range lines (the North-South line between Townships) converge as they run North toward the North Pole. The distance along a Township line (the East-West line between Townships) will not be the same length. In fact, they will be slightly less than 6 miles in length except at the Base line or a correction line. To compensate for this convergence and for accumulated errors in the survey, the sections along North and West sides of a Township will contain an odd acreage. This results in government lots along the North sides of sections 1 through 6 and along the West sides of sections 6,7,18,19,30 & 31, See Figure 9.



Typical Section 7, 18, 19, 30 or 31



Typical Section 1-5

MEANDERED WATER & GOVERNMENT LOTS

Where large lakes or wide rivers were encountered by the government surveyors, these bodies of water "meandered". The resulting section would then contain some government lots. See figure 7.

IMPORTANT: THE GOVERNMENT LOT NUMBER GIVEN TO A TRACT OF LAND IS THE LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THAT TRACT OF LAND.

HOW CAN YOU TELL WHETHER WATER IS MEANDERED OR PRIVATELY OWNED?
On our township maps, if you find government lots adjoining a body of water or stream, those waters are meandered. If there are no government lots surrounding water, that water is privately owned, the owner is paying taxes on the land under the water, and the owner controls the hunting, fishing , trapping rights, etc., on that water, within the regulations of the State and Federal laws, EXCEPT where such water is deemed navigable, other rulings may pertain.

As a generality (but not always), meandered water is public water which the public may use for recreational purposes, fishing, hunting, trapping, etc., if the public can get to such waters without trespassing. There still is much litigation concerning the same to be decided by the courts.

METES AND BOUNDS DESCRIPTIONS
AND EXPLANATION OF DIRECTION IN TERMS OF DEGREES

WHAT IS A METES AND BOUNDS DESCRIPTION? It is a description of a tract of land by starting at a given point, running so many feet a certain direction, so many feet another direction etc., back to the point of beginning. EXAMPLE: In figure 7 notice the small tract of land outlined. The following would be a typical metes and bounds description of that tract of land. "Begin at the center of the section , thence north 660 feet, thence east 660 feet, thence south 660 feet, thence west 660 feet, back to the point of beginning, and containing 10 acres, being part of SEC. No. etc."

IMPORTANT: To locate a tract of land from a metes and bounds description, start from the point of beginning, and follow it out (do not read it backwards as in the case of a rectangular description).
The small tract of land just located by the above metes and bounds description could also be described as the SW1/4SW1/4NE1/4 of the section. In most cases, the same tract of land may be described in different ways.
The rectangular system of describing and locating land as shown in figures 1, 2, 3 and 4 is the most simple and almost always used when possible.
A circle contains 360 degrees. Explanation: if you start at the center of a circle and run 360 straight lines an equal angle apart to the edge of the circle, so as to divide the circle into 360 equal parts, THE DIFFERENCE OF DIRECTION BETWEEN EACH LINE IS ONE DEGREE.
In land descriptions, degree readings are not a measure of distance. They are combined with either North or South, to show the direction a line runs from a given point to the East or West.

HOW TO READ DESCRIPTIONS WHICH SHOW DIRECTIONS IN TERMS OF DEGREES

In figure 8, the north-south line, and the east-west line divide the circle into 4 equal parts, which means that each part contains 90 degrees as shown. Several different direction lines are shown in this diagram, with the number of degrees each varies east or west from the north and south starting points (remember again that all descriptions read from the north or south).

We all know what south-west is. It is a direction which is half-way between South and West. In terms of degrees the direction south-west would read, south 45 degrees west. (See figure 8).

EXAMPLE OF A LAND DESCRIPTION IN TERMS OF DEGREES

At this time, study figure 8 for a minute or two.
In figure 8, notice the small tract. The following metes and bounds description will locate this small tract. "Begin at the beginning point, thence N 20 degrees west - 200 feet, thence N 75 degrees east - 1190 feet, thence S 30 degrees east -240 feet, thence S 45 degrees west -420 feet, thence west - 900 feet back to the point of beginning, containing so many acres, etc.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts

For more than 50 years, conservation districts have been working to protect the nation's natural resources, When Districts were first organized, their main focus was to prevent soil erosion. The soil and water conservation districts of today have many responsibilities in addition to the protection of our soil resources. Water quality, particular, has become a major focus in the past several years.
Districts, at the hub of an important network of community leaders, are an ideal vehicle to promote the protection of our water resources at the local level.

Districts take an active role in the following areas:

INFORMATION * DEMONSTRATIONS * EDUCATION * IMPLEMENTATION

Where to turn for information.....

A conservation district serving as a first-stop for water quality information is a valuable asset to any community. Keeping current information on-hand is an important function of conservation districts. There is a variety of sources that district personnel can turn to for information about water quality. Governmental agencies such as the USDA Soil Conservation Service, Cooperative Extension Service, Fish and Wildlife Service, state water quality agencies, state soil and water conservation agencies and state departments of agriculture all have information available that districts may want to utilize. There are also many environmental groups, regional and local planning commissions, professional associations and water quality related industries that would be excellent sources as well. At a national level, conservation districts are represented by their National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) headquartered in Washington, D.C. Districts also can call on the resources of NACD's technical information arm, the Conservation Technology Information Center, a clearinghouse for soil and water conservation and water quality information since 1982. Organizations such as all of the ones mentioned above are eager to provide information which is usually available in quantity to conservation districts for distribution to local communities. Districts can take an active part in this dissemination process by exhibiting at events such as field days, county fairs and demonstration projects.

Districts using demonstration projects as a teaching tool.....

Demonstration projects are a primary method for teaching new techniques and showing the benefits of implementing resource management systems. Demonstrations often provide the incentive that the public needs to make the switch to a new or different practice; and they are a first step in putting conservation practices to work for a community. In some cases, districts establish demonstration plots and farms to encourage the use of best management practices of BMPs. These sites provide the community with opportunity to see, first-hand, the value BMPs have in improving water quality. Water testing is another activity for many districts. A District can set up a local drop-off point in the community for well water testing. Nitrate testing is a simple process that can be done locally. Samples can also be sent to an approved laboratory for more detailed testing.

Conservation districts play an important role in water quality education.....

The ways that districts can educate a local community about community about water quality are limitless. Group meetings and tours of demonstration areas are popular activities. Producing and distributing brochures on water quality and providing press releases to the local media are other ways to promote public awareness. Locally, over 1,000 of the nation's conservation districts are publishing regular newsletters which serve as a valuable, direct link to the public. Newsletters can include sections or articles on water quality. When writing about technical topics, districts may want to call on the expertise of agency or university water quality specialists to provide information in the form of interviews, guest columns and special features. Some districts also assist in establishing outdoor classrooms, which are excellent tools for teaching about water quality. Outdoor classrooms provide a hands-on setting for learning the benefits of: wetlands, ponds, filter strips, water control structures and watershed protection. Teaching these benefits are vitally important in helping youth to develop respect and understanding of the value of clean water.

Putting practices to work.....

Resource management has been a district priority as long as districts have been in existence. The implementation of resource management systems including water quality BMPs is the key to a successful district program. There are several practices that contribute to the protection of water quality that districts can assist landowners in implementing. The practices include terraces, sediment control basins, grassed waterways and grade stabilization structures. They help control erosion and the resulting sedimentation. Practices for managing irrigation water such as irrigation piplelines, land leveling, drip irrigation, and irrigation scheduling conserve water and protect water quality.

Coordinating a successful program.....

Coordination, cooperation and coalition are the vital ingredients to building successful district programs across the country. Districts foster cooperation among federal, state and local goverments. They also help build productive working relationships among agricultural associations and organizations such as lake associations and environmental groups. By participating in this type of a joint effort, districts play a vital role in the protection of our nation's water resources.
